Truck Hits String Of Autos

WURTSBORO, N. Y.—Four persons were killed and 20 injured when failing air brakes sent a 10-ton truck (background) loaded with highly-explosive Propane Gas, crashing downhill into a string of autos. Local firemen battle the blaze that followed when the tractor-trailer's cargo blew up and burst into flames.

Four Are Killed, 20 Injured In Unusual Crash

Truck Runs Wild Down Mountain; Strikes Many Cars

WURTSBORO, N. Y., July 9.—(INS)—A 30-ton trailer-truck, its brakes gone and its trailer aflame, rocketed four miles down Wurtsboro Mountain road yesterday and killed four persons and injured 20 in smashing into 15 autos.

Gasoline tanks on several cars carrying vacationists homeward to New York from a Catskill mountain week end blew up as the cars were crumpled by the huge truck loaded with 100 household tanks of bottled gas.

Three Burned To Death

Seven persons were trapped in a taxicab that was engulfed by flames and three of the passengers burned to death.

The driver of the truck, Marston H. Reese Jr., of Bayonne, N. J., who was unhurt, was held on a charge of criminal negligence pending further investigation. He will be arraigned before Magistrate J. Eugene O'Gorman.

Reese said his truck was just starting down the mountain span (Continued on Page Two)

One wonders if some people pay two bus fares, as they place large packages on their seats. Saturday afternoon Pa News noticed a woman on one of the Highland-Mahoning buses reluctantly remove a shopping bag of packages so another passenger could sit beside her.

Completion of the work on the new Butler highway east of New Castle, is being speeded. Last roadside grading is being done, and work of erecting the steel fences along the road is being speeded. The guard fences are now up for about half of the distance from New Castle to the Perry highway.

No new detours are listed in the local district for the period ending July 20, the Pennsylvania Highway (Continued on Page Two)

Man Falls To His Death In Hunt For Injured Wife

READING, Pa., July 9.—(INS)—Albert A. Adamski, 22, of Reading died Sunday of a crushed skull when he tumbled 60 feet in a roadside quarry while groping in the darkness for his wife who was hurled from her car when it hit a utility pole.

Police said Adamski's wife, May, 25, is in serious condition in St. Joseph's hospital from injuries incurred in the wreck. The woman suffered possible skull and spine fractures.

Adamski's car failed to negotiate a sharp curve and struck the pole at the end of the quarry. Apparently only stunned in the crash, Adamski began shouting for his wife who was thrown from the (Continued on Page Two)

Draft Call Rate May Be Raised

Army Expected To Make Decision On Question Today

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The army is expected to reach a decision today on the vital question of whether to boost the draft rate in order to offset a sharp drop in enlistments.

The September draft call for at least 20,000 men is due and may be increased. If it is not, defense leaders believe that an increase in the draft will be necessary later in the fall.

The fall-off in enlistments is reported to have started when the Chinese government offensive was wiped out at the end of May, and ward since a Korean peace plan was suggested at the beginning of this month.

Below Expectations
Army, navy, air force and marine corps enlistments were far below expectations for the early days of July on the basis of scattered reports from recruiting stations. The army during June re-

Two Are Drowned In Allegheny River

PITTSBURGH, July 9.—(INS)—A New Kensington, Pa., man and another from Pittsburgh drowned yesterday in Allegheny river boat accident.

Alton Shear, 33, of New Kensington, drowned near Tarentum, Pa., when the motorboat in which he was riding with two other men was swamped by waves caused by a large boat.

Albert Manns, 41, Pittsburgh, also was riding with two companions when his motorboat upset near Emlenton in Venango county. A stalled motor caused the accident.

STRONG EARTHQUAKE SHOCK IS RECORDED

CLEVELAND, July 9.—(INS)—John Carroll university reported today that a strong earthquake, some 60 miles deep and probably in west Guatemala or south Mexico, was recorded on its seismograph last night.

Rev. Henry F. Birkenhauer, seismologist, said the tremor would be "destructive" if it affected a populated area. The first shock was recorded at 8:09 p. m. EDT. The quake lasted about an hour.

New Outbreak Of Air Warfare Occurs In Korea

Tempo Of Ground Fighting Is Also Somewhat Speeded

By ROBERT SCHAKNE

(U. S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, July 9.—The air war blazed anew in Korea today—despite cease-fire talks and—Allied jet fighters routed Communist jets in a dogfight for the third straight day.

At least one Russian-type MIG-15 jet was shot down when 36 American Sabrejets, escorting B-29s on a bombing raid, tangled with eight enemy planes.

This ran enemy plane losses in three days of fighting to eight—four destroyed and four damaged.

In a rare occurrence, the American planes outnumbered the Red jets. Ordinarily, the Reds, operating from bomb-free Manchurian bases, have numerical superiority. Capt. Milton E. Nelson of Tarrant City, Ala., was credited with destroying a MIG in Monday's fighting and upped his total "kills" to three. He thus became the leading Allied MIG-killer currently active in Korea.

Ground Fighting Speeded
The tempo of ground fighting unexplainably speeded up Sunday and several sharp local engagements flared on the central and eastern fronts. These battles ended a lull of almost a week in ground action.

The battles were touched off when Allied units started several "limited objective attacks," gained as much as 3,000 yards and then were forced back by Red counter-thrusts to their original positions. Only on the western front—in (Continued on Page Two)

Seek Identity Of Baby Found Abandoned

CITY DETECTIVES Thomas J. Boyles and George Sigler, are seeking to identify a three-day old infant girl, found abandoned at 8:30 o'clock Sunday evening in the rear of 226 Euclid avenue.

Police were called about 8:30 o'clock by occupants of the home at that location, stating that a suspicious looking package had been discovered amongst some shrubbery in the rear of the home, and that sounds could be heard coming from the package.

Officers Bartoshek and Price, who answered the call, found the package, and thinking that it might be an animal, took it to the garbage plant, where the package was opened. They were amazed to find the feet of an infant sticking out of the paper, and uncovering the package found it was a baby girl, and was still alive.

They took the baby to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where it was found little the worse from its experience. Attending doctors feel that the baby has a good chance for survival.

How the baby lived is a mystery, as it was wrapped up in several newspapers, all of which was stuffed inside two large paper bags.

First Contact Of Negotiators

Truce Teams In Kaesong For Actual Parley

Gen. Ridgway Says Outcome Depends On Good Faith Shown

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, July 9.—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway flew to Korea today with his truce team and the Communists announced that their delegates have arrived at Kaesong for tomorrow's opening of formal armistice negotiations.

The Allied top commander said the success of the history-making conference, due to start at 10 Tuesday morning (8 p.m. Monday EDT) depends on "the good faith not of one side but of both."

Ridgway and his delegation, headed by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, landed at Seoul from Tokyo Monday afternoon. They then flew to an "armistice base" at Munsan, 15 miles below ancient Kaesong upon which the eyes of the world were fixed.

Communists Arrive

The Pyongyang radio reported shortly before 11 Monday night (9 a.m. EDT) that the four Chinese and North Korean generals representing the Red high command had arrived at Kaesong. The broadcast was heard about 11 hours before the time set for the opening of the parley.

The five-man United Nations delegation—outnumbering the Red emissaries by one—were poised at the Munsan truce camp to leave for Kaesong Tuesday morning by helicopter or jeep, depending on the weather.

Ridgway personally set the stage for the tensely awaited talks when he visited the Allied "armistice base." There he received firsthand reports from the three UN colonels who had met the Reds at Kaesong Sunday and negotiated the necessary arrangements for the full-dress conference.

House Begins Voting On Long Term Controls

By THOMAS J. FOLEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The administration faces defeat in its bid for stronger inflationary curbs as the house begins voting today on long-term price, wage and rent controls to replace those expiring July 31.

A torrid battle over amendments which will last the greater part of the week is in prospect. Thus far, 57 amendments have been offered and the number is growing.

Democratic leaders admitted they will be "lucky" if they get through the chamber a bill as strong as that approved by the banking committee, although this measure is a far cry from President Truman's recommendations for stronger controls.

More Optimistic
Rep. Priest (D) Tenn., Democratic whip, was more optimistic than the rest. He said he expected the banking committee bill to be passed without great change. It is regarded as stronger than the watered-down measure passed by the senate 10 days ago.

Priest admitted that the ban against rollbacks on farm commodity prices approved by the banking committee will be passed. But he forecast defeat for a farm bloc move to rescind the 10 per cent rollback in cattle prices already put into effect.

This was the first of a three-stage beef rollback program announced by price controller Di Salle. It was intended only to permit restoration of narrowed wholesale and retailer profit margins, and did not affect the butcher counter price of beef.

Democratic leaders said they hope to finish voting on amendments and pass the bill Thursday. House passage will send the legislation to a house-senate conference committee for adjustment of differences between measures passed by the two houses.

Truman Asks End Of German State Of War

Request Is Sent To Congress Asking For Official Action

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—President Truman today asked Congress to officially put an end to the state of war with Germany which has existed since December 11, 1941.

Mr. Truman made the request in identical letters to Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn, D. Tex., as he sent them copies of a draft resolution to carry out the action.

The chief executive set no date for declaring the state of war at an end but he asked that he be authorized to take the action by means of a presidential proclamation at an undisclosed date.

Germany surrendered to the United States and her allies on May 7, 1945, but a technical state of war has continued since that time.

Will Not Affect Occupation
The president said that the termination of the state of war with Germany "will not affect the status of the occupation."

He said, however, that in agreement with Great Britain and (Continued on Page Two)

Hopeful Negotiations Will Lead To Full Armistice

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—America's top military command is extremely hopeful that the current negotiations with the Communists will lead to a full armistice ending the fighting in Korea.

Officials warn that the peace talks may last several weeks before a complete agreement is reached on a cease-fire order.

The pentagon would not regard such a delay as undue because officials fully recognize that the Chinese Reds face terrific difficulties in communicating between Kaesong and Peking, the Chinese capital.

Official Washington is convinced that the Reds are acting in good faith in seeking an armistice.

Armistice Terms
The armistice terms authorized by Washington include:

New Zoning Law Adopted

Council Approves New Measure At Morning Session

New Castle city council unanimously adopted the new city zoning ordinance, amending, revising and re-enacting the old ordinance passed on December 14, 1925, at today's council meeting.

Before adopting the ordinance, the council discussed further changes in the zoning map, recommended by J. B. Foster, representative of the city real estate agencies.

Only change made today was on Highland avenue from Park avenue to Falls street. This district was changed from residential to local commercial.

Several other changes were recommended but voted against by the council.

Survey on the zoning was made by the Institute of Local and State Government of the Pennsylvania (Continued on Page Two)

President May Make September Visit To Frisco

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—The White House announced today that President Truman is considering a visit to San Francisco in connection with ceremonies accompanying the signing of the Japanese peace treaty.

The treaty is expected to be signed between September 4 and 8.

The White House said the President has not yet, however, made definite plans for the trip.

Arthur Mometer

Here's an ode to the guy who is always wrong in the mind of the average fan, the ump who passes on balls and strikes, a friendless sort of a man. He stands out there in the broiling sun, and calls them as they go by, and if the home team lad is at bat, the strikes that he calls are high. And when the visitors take their turn, the umpire still has to call but no matter how wild the pitcher is, the fans won't believe it's a ball. But the ump toils on in the sizzling heat, as judges the ball men play, and nary a fan says he's doing his job, it's 84 today.

the area and Kaesong, scene of armistice talks—was action at a standstill. Both Allied and Communist troops and planes were respecting a 75-mile square area around Kaesong as a neutral zone. Allied fighter-bombers—victorious over Communist jets in week-end dogfights—continued their daily smashes at Red airfields and communication lines Monday morning.

Fly 200 Sorties

The Fifth Air Force announced that 200 sorties were flown against Red targets by noon. A flight of 24 F-51 Mustangs blasted the Pyongyang airfield near Suncheon in northwest Korea, cratering the runway and knocking out anti-aircraft positions. F-80 Shooting Star jets scored five direct hits on a railroad bridge at Sukchon in the same area.

Night intruder B-26 bombers blasted heavy enemy traffic behind the lines in North Korea. An estimated 3,000 Red vehicles were observed streaming along the roads of Red Korea, moving in all directions during the night.

There was no immediate explanation of the sudden increase in enemy traffic but Allied pilots asked no questions and blasted Red truck convoys as they came upon them. Heavy weather prevented observation of results.

From the sea of Japan, UN warships including the 45,000-ton American battlewagon New Jersey continued to hurl death and destruction at enemy positions. The New Jersey sent 16-inch shells hurtling inland for a distance of more than 15 miles, striking at enemy supply concentrations.

Proclamation

WHEREAS 100 years ago, the Erie Railroad, which is one of the main line railroads serving the City of New Castle, operated its first train from the "Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean, and

WHEREAS in celebration of that momentous event, the Erie Railroad is now sponsoring an extensive visitation to all of the main line stops on its railroad system, and has designated Tuesday, July 10, 1951, between the hours of 2 o'clock and 9 o'clock in the afternoon, as the time when its Centennial Exhibition Train will visit New Castle, just south of the old Erie Railroad Station on West Washington Street.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JOHN F. HAVEN, MAYOR OF THE CITY OF NEW CASTLE, PENNSYLVANIA, do proclaim that in appreciation and recognition of the long and valuable service of the Erie Railroad to the City of New Castle, that the said Tuesday, July 10, 1951, be and the same is hereby declared in New Castle to be "Erie Railroad Day", and all the citizens of New Castle are invited to meet and welcome the representatives of the Erie Railroad on that day, between 2:00 P. M. and 9 o'clock P. M. at the Centennial Exhibition Train near the old Erie Railroad Station on West Washington Street; and as Mayor of the City of New Castle, and on behalf of all of its people, I do officially express to the officers of the Erie Railroad Company the congratulations and good will of the City to the said Railroad, for the great part which it has had in the building of America, and particularly for its contributions over the years to the growth and development of New Castle.

WITNESS my hand and official seal this ninth day of July, 1951.

ceived only 10,000 volunteers, half the monthly number that was being received earlier in the year. The June drop-off for the army occurred despite the fact that thousands of students were being released from colleges and universities. The air force and navy believe that the enlistments by students was all that enabled them to make their June enlistment quotas.

Latest indications are that the navy and air force will be able to avoid use of the draft at least through September, and that the army will hold its September call to 22,000—the same number of draftees that were requested for August.

Deaths Of The Day

Clarence E. Allison

Clarence E. Allison, aged 56 years, a lifetime resident of the Harlansburg district, New Castle, R. D. 4, died Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Jameson Memorial hospital after an eight weeks' illness.

Brother Of Boy Ruler Of Tibet Has Arrived In U. S.

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—The 29-year-old elder brother of the Dalai Lama—the boy ruler of Tibet—has arrived in the United States to study English and receive medical treatment for rheumatism in his legs.

Lama Takaster Rimpoche, a Buddhist monk often credited with urging his younger brother to resist the successful Chinese Communist attempts to take over their mountain-high country, arrived in New York by plane yesterday. The Lama, who speaks only Tibetan and Chinese, is the oldest of five brothers of the 16-year-old Tibetan ruler.

After medical treatment in New York he will study English at the University of California under the auspices of the committee for free Asia.

He will stay in the U. S. for six months.

No Chance To Warn Him

High told police he ran out with a flashlight and was approaching Adamski to aid in the search.

"I didn't have a chance to warn him," High said, "that he was standing at the brink of the quarry."

Just as I reached him he grabbed my light, took one step and fell screaming into space. The beam of the light shot upward outward of the quarry as he fell.

High called state police who found Mrs. Adamski's unconscious form on the highway and Adamski's body in the quarry. The victim was a paratrooper during World War II.

2. Neutral zones are to be established into which movement of either side will be forbidden.

3. Reinforcement of either side will be prohibited.

4. Exchange of prisoners on a man for man basis.

5. Some form of inspection of both forward and rear areas on both sides to provide constant check on all conditions of the armistice.

This inspection may be vested on a team of United Nations nationalities, not actively engaged in the Korean war and undoubtedly would include Russian observers.

Washington officials interpreted as a good sign the fact that the Communists at yesterday's preliminary session made no attempt to inject matters which might be construed as extraneous to the peace talks.

Twenty Cars In Path

At the foot of the hill some 20 cars were halted at a red light. Reese said he tried to ram his truck through a guard rail but was unable to cut through a line of cars on the outside lane.

The truck sideswiped six cars, then plunged into the taxi. It rolled into a two-lane intersection zone, hitting cars right and left before it stopped. The trailer of the truck caught fire but the propane gas did not ignite.

The taxicab, turned into a mass of flame, skidded into several other cars and showered them with blazing gasoline. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adesman and Lena Sena died in the back seat of the car before their driver, Ben Levine, could get them out. Two other passengers whom Levine rescued were hospitalized with severe burns. Another couple in the taxi suffered bruises and shock.

A fourth person, Philip Levy, 54, was fatally burned when the taxi set fire to a car just ahead of it.

A number of persons were pulled from flaming cars by drivers and passengers in other vehicles which escaped unscathed.

Three 30,000-gallon tanks still burned early today, but firemen said the danger of the flames spreading had passed.

One Bid Submitted On Chlorine Supply

Diamond Alcol Chemical company submitted the only bid for the purchase of chlorine by the city for the year. It was announced at council meeting this morning.

Bids of $6.56 per hundred ton rate for 24 tons, and $5.56 per hundred ton rate for purchase of 32 tons, by the Diamond company were turned over to the city solicitor for study.

His Triplet Sons Proven Problem

REVERE, Mass., July 9.—(INS)—John Russo returned to work in his barbershop today with deep contentment that his "day of rest" is at an end.

Russo took his eight-year-old triplet sons to Revere beach yesterday with the following results: Dante was gashed on the head by a stick wielded by another boy.

Russo took Dante to a doctor who sewed up the wound with three stitches.

Russo and Dante returned to the beach, saw a thick crowd at the water's edge and pushed through to see what the excitement was all about. The other boys, Joseph and Anthony, had ventured over their depths, nearly drowned and were pulled from the sea.

Russo took Joe and Tony to Boston to the Massachusetts General hospital for treatment. Last night a weary father put the three boys to bed and heaved a sigh of satisfaction that Sunday comes only once a week.

France, the United States intends "to grant the federal republic increasing authority over its own affairs and eventually to see Germany restored as a full sovereign nation."

The chief executive noted that Russia "has actively prevented the growth of a representative Democratic government in a unified Germany and has thus made impossible for the time being the arrangement of a final peace settlement."

He added: "As it became plain that we could not expect Soviet cooperation in rebuilding all of Germany as a self respecting, democratic and peaceful nation, we were forced to change our approach."

"The ultimate fulfillment of our Germany policy has been delayed, but we were determined to do all we could to advance that policy in the part of Germany under our control."

PAULINE PELUSO TO WED JULY 16

Miss Pauline Peluso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peluso of 416 Elizabeth street, has chosen Monday, July 16, as the date of her approaching marriage to James Rossano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rossano, 620 Long avenue.

St. Joseph's church will be the scene of the open church ceremony at 9:30 a.m.

Miss Helen Rossano, sister of the groom-elect, will be maid of honor and Joseph Dinofore will act as best man. Ushers will be: Paul and Raymond Peluso Jr., brothers of the bride-elect, and John Rossano, brother of the prospective groom.

ROUND-UP CLUB ENJOYS PICNIC

Shelters 1 and 2 at Cascade Park were used for the annual family and friends picnic of the Round-Up club, held Sunday starting with a sumptuous dinner at 1 p.m.

About 250 were in attendance. Treats were given to the children. The door prize was captured by Mrs. Charles Petrucci. A watermelon treat was given to the children afterwards.

Supper was served at 6 p.m., following an athletic program conducted in the afternoon.

Mrs. Ben Ciccone, general chairman, was aided by Mrs. Thomas Maciarello and Mrs. Charles Sbarro.

The club meeting will be conducted Thursday, July 12, in Shelter 3, at Cascade park. In case of rain the meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruben Pratt, Hazelcroft avenue.

Co-hostesses will be: Mrs. A. J. Capezio, Mrs. Thomas Maciarello, Mrs. Ruben Pratt, Mrs. John George and Mrs. Paul Scipio.

Johnston Reunion

Descendants of John and Mary Jennings Johnston will note change in date of annual reunion. A picnic dinner will be held Saturday, August 11, in Community Park, New Wilmington.

BUSY DOZEN CLUB ANNUAL DINNER

Busy Dozen club held its annual chicken dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Sylvester, East Brook road, on July 7. Husbands of the club members were special guests at the gala affair.

The dinner, held at 7 o'clock was served from a table beautifully decorated with cut flowers in an intriguing design in yellow and white.

Mrs. Angeline Farrone and Mrs. Mary Yacoby entertained the group with a lively play. Mrs. Katherine Spanish won the door prize.

Later in the evening games were played. Prizes were won by Archie Briggs, Mrs. Isabella Pascarella, Mrs. Margaret Sylvester, David DeSalvo, Dominic Sylvester, James Pascarella and Mrs. Jennie Briggs.

Next regular meeting of the Busy Dozen club will be held on July 18 in the home of Mrs. Mary Yacoby, Cascade street.

Club Eight Meets

Club Eight members met in the home of Mrs. Frank Presnar, 2 Fern street, on Thursday evening. Mrs. Elmer George was hostess for the meeting.

Canasta was the diversion of the evening. Mrs. Frank Presnar won the high score award and Mrs. Martin Stineduff received the low score award.

Mrs. James Dunlap assisted the hostess in serving a tasty lunch. Next meeting of the club will be held on July 12 at the home of Mrs. Edwin Griffith, 332 Neshannock avenue.

Mahoning Valley Picnic

Members of the Mahoning Valley Civic club will enjoy their annual picnic at Cascade park on Thursday night, July 12, at 6:30 p.m. Adda McCullough and Mrs. Pearl Cochran are hostesses for the evening.

Chrysolite Club

Chrysolite club members will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the club rooms—Unione Calabro, Mrs. William Cubellis is the hostess.

SHIRLEY COOK WED TO ALAN N. SCHMIDT

Traditional wedding selections including "Because," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Stephen Polley with Mrs. Glenn McCracken at the organ, provided appropriate background music for the lovely double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Shirley Louise Cook, East Garfield avenue, and Alan Neil Schmidt, College street, Newberry, S. C., in the Highland U. P. church Saturday, July 7, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dale Milligan read the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Cook, 113 East Garfield avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan K. Schmidt, Hemlock Hill Farm, New Castle.

For her marriage the bride chose a floor-length hoopskirt gown of nylon tulle over taffeta, fashioned with a Peter Pan collar and an illusion over-the-shoulder bodice with small buttons from the neck to the waist. The sleeves were long and full and small white medallions enriched the skirt and sleeves.

A small white hat trimmed with white blossoms held in place the bride's finger veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and carnations. Her father gave her in marriage.

Miss Betty Lou Finch was maid of honor and she wore a floor-length gown of aqua net over taffeta, made strapless with a stole. She wore a small aqua hat to match the bride's and carried talisman roses and carnations.

Miss Mary Margaret Hellyer, niece of the groom, was flower girl, wearing a floor-length frock of yellow organza, with a scalloped bertha collar. She had temples of flowers in her hair and carried a basket of summer flowers.

Harry Savisky of Niagara Falls, N. Y., acted as best man for the groom and the ushers were Fred Broad of Oberlin, O., and Donald Booser of Beaver, Pa.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the church parlor, with 150 guests enjoying the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt will live in an apartment on College avenue, Newberry, S. C., after their honeymoon in Virginia.

Mrs. Schmidt is a graduate of the New Castle high school, January class of 1946, attended Muskingum College, New Concord, O., and was graduated from Penn State in June, 1950, with a B. S. degree in Home Economics Education. She is assistant county home economic extension representative of Somerset and Bedford counties.

Mr. Schmidt was graduated from Riverside Brookfield high school, Riverside, Ill., in June, 1946, and is also a graduate of Penn State with a B. S. degree in forestry, in the June, 1950 class. He is a forester with the American Can company at present, training with the Champion Paper and Fiber company, Newberry, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt entertained members of the bridal party at a rehearsal dinner held Friday evening in a New Wilmington dining room.

Gala Occasion Is Golden Wedding Of Mr. And Mrs. Chas. L. Repman

A gala celebration marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Repman of Wampum on Sunday afternoon and evening at their home.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a table beautifully appointed in the golden motif, highlighted with a three-tiered anniversary cake, flanked with white candles in crystal candelabra, and a bouquet of yellow roses. Aides in serving were Mrs. Repman's sister, Mrs. S. Hennon of Wampum; her nieces, Mrs. T. J. Anderson of Sharon, Mrs. C. M. Marshall of Ellwood, Mrs. Elta Wilson of Beaver Falls; a nephew's wife, Mrs. Keith McConahy of New Castle; Mrs. A. F. Krebs and Mrs. C. F. Morrow of Wampum, both close friends.

Guests came from many localities to share in the open house event. Among the guests were Mrs. Repman's sister, Mrs. Mary A. Wardman of Ellwood, aged 90, and Thomas Metheny of Beaver Falls, aged 93.

Mr. and Mrs. Repman are the parents of one son, H. Eugene Repman, at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Repman received many beautiful gifts, floral tributes and congratulatory messages to remember the happy occasion. They are both in good health. Mr. Repman, still active, is in the appliance business and is a News sales representative in Wampum. He will celebrate 52 years in business in October of this year, having been Wampum distributing agent for the New Castle News for that length of time.

CAMPS AND KIDS

This life-begins-at-40 routine is well enough for the old folks at home. But any discerning person from seven to 17 can set you straight on that. Life really begins on that long awaited day when, with bags packed and fluttering parents giving parting and unheard advice, you finally arrive at railroad station or bus terminal to set off for camp.

It doesn't matter especially what camp, or where it's located. Near or far there are endless Potawatamies, Cherokees, Onondagas and Shadybrooks to choose from. The locale may vary, also the rates. Otherwise the octane content of each is much the same—crew cuts, freckles, flashing grins, noisy and high.

Yes, indeed, school's out and it's heigh for the merry green woods. The trail awaits the hiker, the water's fine, the fish may or may not bite on your line. Happy days are here again.

See you later, mom; so long, pop.

CLEANING UP R.F.C.

Congressional decision on retaining or abolishing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation still hangs fire. Meanwhile, W. Stuart Symington, as sole administrator, continues the cleanup he started on taking over control in May.

Symington succeeded the five-man board which was ousted following the Fulbright committee's investigation of charges that RFC loans had been influenced in many instances by a ring having contact with some White House personnel.

As the one-man boss, Symington has forced the RFC manager in Minneapolis to resign because of an "improper" deal, with the papers in the case going to the Department of Justice. Next to be forced out was an assistant manager in the office of loans in consequence of the manner in which a Mobile, Ala., paper company obtained a loan of $750,000. The next to walk the plank was an RFC assistant controller accused of accepting employment from a Dallas, Tex., borrower.

The latest move by Symington is an order stripping from the RFC's 32 field offices all loan-granting authority. Up to now these offices have had the power to make loans of less than $100,000 without Washington approval, but Symington apparently is convinced that, despite the Fulbright committee expose, abuses have not been eradicated. As one example, he cited a loan made for a flower-growing enterprise in violation of his declared policy of restricting lending to essential projects.

Symington has done a noteworthy job in a short time. Nevertheless, the time seems to have arrived to eliminate a government agency that has been so lacking in moral and ethical standards as the RFC has been shown to be. Whatever the excuse for the government embarking in the lending business in depression days may have been, this is not a proper function of government today.

END BAIL FOR CONVICTED REDS

When the four missing convicted Communist leaders "jumped bail," long-standing criticism of the easy-going treatment accorded Red conspirators came to a head.

Almost a year ago, after the 11 Communists were convicted following a riotous nine-month trial before Judge Medina the United States Circuit Court turned down their petition to remain free on bail pending final action of the Supreme Court in the case.

Later, Justice Jackson of the Supreme Court took the unusual step of overriding the Circuit Court and the Reds got out on bail.

Justice Jackson said he didn't want to "make martyrs of them." The long-range effect is that the four who flouted the District Court the other day had a virtual invitation to disappear—possibly to flee the country like the other Red, Gerhart Eisler.

It is not enough to forfeit the $80,000 bail for these recalcitrant Reds. Attorney General McGrath is on the right track with his grim assurances that anyone who may have helped in their concealment or escape will be prosecuted. Also we are glad Judge Sylvester Ryan is looking into the backers of the Civil Rights Congress, which put up the bail for these and other Communies not yet tried.

It is time for the courts to cease leaning over backward in dealing with convicted spies and Communists. Murderers are not permitted to remain at large until their appeals are heard. Reds convicted of seeking to destroy our government and our way of life deserve no greater consideration.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Japanese Treaty Signing Near

WASHINGTON, July 9.—All obstacles to the signing of a Japanese peace treaty have now been overcome and the stage is being readied for a great ceremony that it is hoped will symbolize the beginning of a new era in the Pacific. The author of this remarkable achievement is John Foster Dulles, Republican assistant to Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The ceremonial signing of the treaty will be held toward the end of the summer, probably around September 1. Those who are planning the occasion hope President Truman can be persuaded to make a major address in person at the end of the ceremonies.

Inevitable Locale

The west coast is the inevitable locale and the present plan is to arrange something on the scale—but not the duration—of the conference in 1945 that created the United Nations. That conference was held in San Francisco. While the place has not been finally decided on, the city of the golden gate would be a logical choice for the peace ceremony. An official announcement is expected shortly.

Neither Nationalist China nor Communist China will be represented at the peace table. This is in accord with the compromise worked out under which the Japanese themselves will choose, after ratification of the treaty, whether they want to enter into diplomatic relations with Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, with the Communists in Peiping, with both, or with neither.

Some trade went on between Red China and Japan during General MacArthur's occupation. The economic relationship between China, as a producer of raw materials, and Japan, with its large industrial capacity, has long been of primary importance. But even with the treaty ratified, it is anticipated that America will exert considerable influence over Japan's approach to world affairs.

Final Obstacle

The final obstacle Dulles had to overcome was the opposition of the joint chiefs of staff to the signing of a peace treaty while the war in Korea was going on. The difference on this score was acute before the truce negotiations had advanced to the present stage.

But Robert A. Lovett, under secretary of defense, with Acheson and Dulles that a treaty should be signed as soon as possible. With this support Acheson went to the White House to put

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IMMEDIATE PUNISHMENT NEEDED

Some months ago I advised in this column that not only should matches be kept beyond the reach of the youngster under three or four, but that he should also be taught consistently to respect his father's property. I have heard of him being trained to avoid certain dangers permanently, including dangers which he happened to come upon, and not even be allowed to play with empty matchboxes or empty match boxes. As I have maintained consistently, effective teaching of such avoidance of the forbidden things requires that the child be so supervised that he never can touch or seize these things without getting instant physical pain, preferably a spanking on the bare thighs.

Of course, many a tot who is told never to run into the street unprotected or play in the fire or handle matches, continues to ignore this forbidding even though he may have been spanked often, even whipped brutally. But in such cases the punishment has not been always immediate and without exception. Sometimes he has been spanked long after the offense because someone told him on, or after he was forced to confess to the act. Only now and then may he have been spanked at all but escaped scores or hundreds of times without any punishment.

Safe Amusements

Hence many bright people, including no small proportion of parent counselors, say you can not train any tot well to avoid the use of physical pain. One more essential factor these observers have overlooked—that for specific forbidding of the young child to be effective he must have abundant safe amusements to turn to immediately after he is given pain, and he must also have a family atmosphere of adequate love and security at all other times.

A father, writing to take issue with my former article on his subject, tells of a boy bent on building fires clandestinely who was "cured" by inducing him to take responsibility for the furnace fire and removal of the ashes, and for building the campfires for the family picnics. Though the age of this lad was not named, he must have been over 9 or 10. Excellent, but I was clearly writing of the child under five and was considering prevention rather than cure.

Immediate Punishment

Any punishment scheme for a child over four or five who is a fire fiend may be of doubtful value, since this child hardly can be seen practically all the time by a responsible person, though punishment might do some good immediately after he is "caught in the act." Certainly constant vigilance concerning him is desirable.

As the older boy cited by the father was induced to take responsibility for the furnace fire, there must have prevailed a remarkably fine parent-child relationship and a favorable family atmosphere. These, of course, are the first essentials in re-educating the child over four or five who builds fire clandestinely—in making effective safer substitutes. It even has worked in curative direction with a younger child. But as a rule, the child under four, five or even six may not only need careful vigilance and effective restraints regarding matches and building fires, but may also need wider training in child-like and regard for the rights and possessions of others.

DESTINY

When I was just a druggist's lad, Three ways to shape my life I had. One friend a banker was, and he "A banker," said 'he'd make of me."

The second dealt in socks and ties. He liked the twinkle in my eyes. And one day gave the chance to me To master haberdashery.

Was it by destiny or guess I chose, through life, to serve the press? And would, if came the chance again, Decide as I decided then. Today I know that I had not Been happy with the banker's lot. And, doomed to selling socks and ties, Had lost that twinkle in my eyes.

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen, The saddest are: 'It might have been.'"

I've not the saddest now to me. I've been what I've been glad to be.

Our president sold ties and hose And to our best office rose. But English boys I couldn't rise So high by selling socks and ties.

FOOD HABITS

NEW YORK.—Did you ever stop to think that the food you eat reveals your personality? Well, such is the case, according to an authoritative eating habits, Harriet Bruce Moore. A two-year study of typical Americans has satisfied Mrs. Moore that the person who wolf's his food invariably is a hard-driving, impatient person in daily life. The light eater generally is high-strung.

From Me To You

By MESEEL

As far as outdoor activity is concerned . . . this has been a very unfit summer . . . there have been, to be sure, some warm days . . . and when such days dawn one of the first thoughts for many is . . . "let's go swimming." Meet you at such and such a time . . . BUT where will the swimming take place? One reader has this to say:

"Here it is the middle of summer, the 4th of July is past, and how often have you been in swimming? . . . It's a deplorable condition, when in a city of 50,000, there is not one swimming pool . . . Nearby towns, all smaller than New Castle, are profiting from New Castle swimmers . . . Spend a Sunday at East Palestine and everywhere you turn, you see a New Castle face . . . Go to Butler, Grove City, Ellwood City or even New Wilmington . . . These towns are equipped with clean, safe pools, but New Castle . . . uh-huh . . . We have to swim in the dirty rivers or wait until the powers-that-be can afford repairs on the deteriorated excuse for a swimming pool on the east side . . . Cascade Park . . . where the filthy waters echo with the cries of injured children and noisy adults, where complete lack of order takes the enjoyment out of the sport . . . Why repair the place when a new pool is what we need? Spend the money on a modern pool, not a dam on Nesheannick Creek . . . not a wading pool . . . but a centrally-located pool that is sanitary, roomy, and well-guarded."—A. D.

The above letter is a typical letter that we receive from time to time . . . Those who like swimming feel they are being neglected . . . those who like tennis feel the same. It would be nice to have swimming pools and tennis courts . . . But we can't feel as some do that the city owes the citizens all this . . . it would be nice to have city owned pools . . . BUT it also would be nice to have private owned pools that would be available for the general public . . . We need some gold restaurants, too . . . but is it the city's obligation?

"ARMED TO THE TEETH"

Forcing Music Lessons

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

American parents who have children "save up" to see that their little ones take music lessons.

Mary must learn to play the violin. Bogart must master the cornet. Cipriano needs to become a virtuoso on the clarinet.

The fact that the children have no talent for music does not enter into the scheme of the thing. My history is proof positive of how parents will try to find a musician under their roof.

When I was seven, going on eight, Mama and Papa tapped me as a musician. There wasn't enough money in the house to buy a steak (at 22 cents a pound) but there was enough money to buy Henry a cornet.

Didn't Want to Play Cornet

I told them in my loudest boyish treble that I did not want to play a cornet. They would not listen to me. "Your two sisters play the piano," they told me. "And your oldest brother plays a bull fiddle, and so, Henry, you are going to learn to play a musical instrument—and for you we have chosen the cornet."

This was in Rochelle, Georgia. Great teachers of the cornet do not gravitate to Rochelle, Georgia, naturally. The teacher they sent me to was Mr. Grant. Mr. Grant and I learned to play the cornet together. Mr. Grant cost my parents a dollar an hour, and after one solid year of taking lessons, Mr. Grant could play a cornet loudly—thanks to me.

Parents are not going to pay for their children's music lessons unless they can show me off.

Showed Me Off

The day came when they showed me off. It was in a church. My father was the minister of the church and the occasion was a Christmas pageant. For days mothers in the towns had made costumes for their sons and daughters. I was rigged out as an angel, and it need not stretch your imagination to imagine me as not even faintly resembling an angel.

I was not only an angel, but I was a cornet-blowing angel. It was my duty to stand upright before the congregation with my wings sticking straight out and play "America" in B flat major.

Parents will never know what they do to children. With every best intention in the world, parents hurt youngsters. Once a man or a woman has grown up, it is impossible for them to understand children. Every grown-up person was once a youngster, but you can't tell it by watching them now.

More Wounds You Gather

The older you grow, the more wounds you accumulate. But there is nothing in the world that can ever hurt you as much as being hurt when you're a child. Nothing has ever happened to me that was as tragic as having to play the cornet before the Baptist congregation in Rochelle, Georgia. I played it for only one reason—Papa and Mama were determined to have every one of their children a musician.

If you're just starting out to have a family, do this for Henry—give your boy a baseball bat instead of a violin, and your daughter a doll house instead of voice lessons.

But if you insist on giving your children music lessons, send them to Mr. Grant, in Rochelle, Georgia.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

These Korea negotiations sound like contacts between cops and kidnapers with the cops ready to leave the ransom bundle behind the old stone wall when requested.

I just dusted off that old picture of MacArthur taking the Japanese surrender on the deck of the Missouri and it seems that a lot of Pacific has floated over our national dignity since that time.

We propose a neutral hospital ship as a meeting place, the Commies propose a town behind their lines. We accept . . . score at the end of the first inning. One to nothing for the Commies.

This is the kidnapper telling the cops his terms while the police chief is putting out "We are winning a tremendous victory" bulletins.

All I know is that when the aggressor proposes an armistice (which we snap at), names the meeting place (which we snap at), I wouldn't want to issue a 30-year peace policy at low rates on the results.

The problem is, can the boy burned once be burned again? And the answer is some boys can be burned every hour on the hour.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Ohio State university once invited a distinguished old judge to speak at a convocation. They didn't realize that the old gentleman, always eccentric, had grown worse with the years, and was somewhat senile into the bargain. He seized his typewriter firmly, plodded up to the lectern, and began reading in a high, cracked voice.

When he got to the bottom of Page One, he turned the leaf, and continued reading. It soon became apparent to the startled audience that the judge was re-reading Page One. And if that wasn't enough, the third page was another duplicate.

By this time everybody realized that the typist had delivered the judge's speech in triplicate. Seventeen pages were read three times over by the unsuspecting gentleman. The chairman then rushed out for an aspirin, and the audience rushed out to have hysterics.

ELIZABETHAN AND MARY ANNAN

Some of our young architects say that they find a good many houses with pretty fine architecture in front called Queen Elizabeth but it is pretty bad in the back so they call it Mary Ann.

Eating places are like that sometimes. The front room is clean and shiny and the waiters are tidy. Things are not so good in the kitchen. Floors are dirty, uniforms are soiled, utensils are unwashed.

Good sanitary inspectors see to it that the back room is kept in better condition than the front room. Tests are made on glasses, cups and spoons to see if they are sterilized.

We can be proud of our eating places for they are all kept in apple pie order.

Great Game Of Politics

White House Weakens

WASHINGTON, July 9.

The really frightening thing about the existing Washington situation is the exceeding feebleness of the White House leadership. This has been true from the beginning of the Administration—but before the crisis it was not too vital. Now it is. Because, now with the pouring out of almost uncounted billions for defense and the necessity for effective use of all our resources, grave problems have arisen which if botched or bungled threaten us with economic chaos.

—O—

The trouble with Mr. Truman is, first, that he fails to act when he has the power and action is needed; second, when, after long and costly delays, he finally acts, he lacks the strength to be effective. Naturally, White House weakness is reflected all down the Administration line. No organization can be much better than the man at the top. But there is nothing in the least sinister or wicked about Mr. Truman, but though he has proclaimed himself a "fighting man" there seems little force in his fighting, and most of his reputation along this line is based on the idea that he stands by his friends when attacked. However, there have been one or two occasions when he most notably failed to do that.

—O—

The lamentable truth is that while he has made a number of fights, they have been mostly over appointments and he has by no means won all of them. So far as can be recalled he has won no big fight since he has been President. As a matter of fact, he has not made any. At the beginning of the defense effort he evaded conflict with the organized labor bosses who balked at his program and are still dragging their feet. Nor has he shown any disposition to come to grips with the farm lobby, which stands in the way of effective price control. Also, though he has talked a good deal about the danger of inflation he has utterly neglected to fight for the essential economies in nondefense expenditures, the terrific importance of which has been pointed out many times by many persons.

—O—

At no time, however, has the feebleness of the Truman leadership been more clearly exposed than in the defeat in Congress this week on the issue of controls upon which the Administration's program wholly depends and without which the danger of a ruinous inflation is vastly increased. With a clear party majority in both House and Senate, and with an overwhelming press support, Congress rejected Mr. Truman's pleas and refused to give him what he asked, though the first importance of the question raised was generally conceded.

Beyond doubt this was the most humiliating reverse the President has suffered since he took office in 1945. It was not possible to blame it upon the alleged iniquitous coalition of "reactionary Republicans" and Southern Democrats. For the extraordinary fact is that in both House and Senate the Administration's own regular Democratic leaders refused to follow the White House lead and ignored the presidential appeals. No such exhibition as this has been seen in Congress within the recollection of anyone conversant with congressional history. During the Roosevelt era, while there were times when the majority leaders did not personally favor the Roosevelt program, there was no such bolt as staged in the Senate last Friday when Senator McFarland, of Arizona, the official Democratic leader, and the Democratic whip, Senator Johnson, of Texas, departed from the White House proposals and voted with its opponents.

—O—

Also, upon several votes, that example of Democratic organization regularity, Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, did the same thing. The result of the defection of these Administration leaders left defense of the Administration program in the hands of Senators Lehman, of New York, and Benton, of Connecticut—two senators conspicuously lacking in personal popularity and influence. They fared rather badly in the bitter debate and were utterly unable to avert the debacle. It may be that before the extension of the emasculated controls—to July 31—expires a sufficient pressure can be brought upon Congress to compel a reversal and insure an effective bill. That is what can be hoped but there is no surety about it, and the revelation of Mr. Truman's inability to keep his own leaders in line has had a debilitating effect.

—O—

Altogether, when the national danger is so clear and acute it is a depressing spectacle to find that the President, even when he is absolutely right, can be so easily—and with such complete impunity—ignored by his own party heads in Congress. It says what little confidence remains in the presidential adequacy. Also, it makes the renewed assertions by his jobholder friends of the National Committee that he will be renominated and re-elected seem hollow, indeed. The way his congressional leaders treated him this week isn't the way party leaders usually treat a President they expect to be renominated and re-elected.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

One of the greatest mistakes anyone can make is to consider himself an authority on anything. No matter how much of a so-called "expert" one may be on any subject, he can go no further than to know or express what is known about that subject TODAY.

Today's "facts" may be tomorrow become yesterday's superstitions.

For what he is applauded today, the scientist or expert may be ridiculed tomorrow.

Yesterday the earth was positively known and proven to be FLAT.

Today we know just as positively and can prove just as scientifically that the earth is ROUND.

Tomorrow it may be octagonal, oval or pie-shaped. That too, will be proved beyond the shadow of a doubt, and nobody will dare to deny it.

Yesterday's drugs today are considered "grandmother's cure-alls." We laugh at them, and a constant flow of new medicines is discovered to make us healthier. If not wiser. Tomorrow today's wonder drugs will be ridiculed, and tomorrow's doctors will examine them and say "How Quaint!"

Thus, I repeat, no one has the right to consider himself an authority on anything—least of all a columnist.

A little while ago I expressed the opinion that the basis of successful marriage is LOVE.

Today I have received a letter from a sixteen-year-old girl in Kenia, Ohio, who states and PROVES that I am all wrong.

And would you believe it? I may be all wrong, at that. I don't know. Do YOU?

Psalms 40: 11.

This is what Shirley, the sixteen-year old, writes:

"You say that love is the prime and most important factor in marriage. I disagree.

"Ask yourself how many times you were in love before you met your wife. Why didn't you marry the first girl you fell in love with? Didn't you feel each time you fell in love that she was THE one?"

"I'll tell you what I think makes a good marriage. When the boy and girl have many common interests so that they can be friends as well as lovers, so that their life together will never become dull.

"When the boy and girl have a mutual understanding toward a way of life, responsibility and duties of marriage and religion. I think if those conditions are satisfied, their love will grow and become a beautiful thing, instead of just fading away.

"I sincerely believe that if two people marry for love and do not have common interests and mutual understanding, what they call love will die in time.

"It seems to me that most young people don't realize the seriousness of marriage. You have a point when you say that in the old days, the percentage of divorces was much lower than it is now. But did you ever think of this—at that time women were confined to the home and had no way of making a living of their own. They had to stay married for a man's support.

Dr. Bunche Is Considered For Peace Parley

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., July 9.—A number of United Nations diplomats have begun discussions on the possibility of drafting Dr. Ralph Bunche to take over the Korean peace talks when they enter the political stage.

The Nobel prize winner and negotiator of the Palestine armistice who is currently serving as U. N. trusteeship administrator, hinted strongly to International News Service that he would be willing to go to Korea if asked to do so by the world organization.

Asked what his attitude would be to such a mission, Dr. Bunche said, "I am at the disposal of the U. N. secretary general and the assembly. I'll go wherever they send me."

It was emphasized, however, that there has as yet been no official approach to Dr. Bunche.

U. N. Hands Off Policy

Meanwhile, the U. N. was maintaining a strict hands off policy on the Korean cease-fire negotiations but will respond quickly to any request for advice or intervention from Gen. Ridgway if a deadlock threatens.

Top U. N. officials and delegates believe the U. S. preme commander will turn to U. N. and ask for new instructions once he feels that military conditions covering the security of his troops have been agreed upon and broader problems such as the withdrawal of Chinese Communist troops across the Yalu river are raised.

In anticipation that the military stage of the Kaesong talks will soon be displaced by a political stage, the U. N. diplomats have begun discussing the appointment of Dr. Bunche.

Many U. N. delegates are of the opinion that Bunche has a "magic name" when it comes to peace-making. It is pointed out, furthermore, that he is probably acceptable to the Communists for any negotiations on Korea. U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, on the other hand, is stymied in that the Soviet Union boycotts him on the ground his three-year extension granted by the assembly is "illegal".

There is no sure way of determining the age of a hard shell turtle.

Seeks Indian History Here

E. J. Long (left) and Dr. Mayer-Oakes (right) examine a collection of flint belonging to Mr. Long. Dr. Mayer-Oakes is conducting a historical survey of this area and is being assisted by Mr. Long who is a member of the State Archaeological society. Long lives at 1215 West State street.

Little by little, W. J. Mayer-Oakes, archeologist of Carnegie Museum is picking up the threads of early Indian history in Lawrence County.

For the past three weeks, with two companions, he has been scouring Lawrence County looking for traces of Indian camps and villages, seeking out persons who have collections of Indian arrow heads and flints.

By now Mr. Mayer-Oakes is convinced that long before the Delawares lived in this section there were Indians here, perhaps centuries before the Delawares.

He has inspected a number of collections of arrow heads and these he claims were not made by the Delawares but by the Indians that preceded them.

One thing he is seeking but has not yet found and that is a fluted spear head. These he claims are certain evidence of the existence of the early Indians here. Somewhere in the county there may be one of the prized fluted spear heads and if there is he would like to examine it.

The finding of arrow heads alone is no evidence of an Indian camp or village. They may have been shot at some animal or an adversary far from the camp or village. But he has found indications of Indian camps and villages, chiefly in the Edenburg section.

Near Edenburg was a large village of Delawares, late in the eighteenth and early in the nineteenth centuries. Another village is supposed to have been located somewhere near what is

Newsman Are Not Allowed To Cover Kaesong Conference

By DON DIXON
(U. S. War Correspondent)

SEOUL, July 9.—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway personally explained to complaining newsmen today that they cannot be allowed to cover the Kaesong cease-fire talks because of the "critical" nature of the discussions.

With perspiration pouring down his face after rushing from the Seoul City Airport to the Press Camp, the United Nations supreme commander patiently stressed the delicate nature of the peace talks. He explained that he did not want to take any risk of upsetting the discussions.

Ridgway wore his customary paratrooper's harness with hand grenade attached and also carried a first aid packet.

The American general's briefing came as an answer to correspondents who had complained bitterly about lack of facilities to cover the Kaesong talks.

There was a somewhat heated debate earlier with army public information officers about the exact status of the "Armistice City" whether it is in Communist hands or whether it is in a no-man's land.

The wrangle was touched off by Col. Andrew J. Kinney, senior member of the Allied delegation which arranged Sunday for formal cease-fire talks at Kaesong.

Kinney said that in his opinion the city appeared "definitely" to be Communist-controlled. Censors at first refused to pass this remark but then relented.

Commission Drafting New U.M.T. Plan

By JOHN BOOTH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—An official of the new commission to draft a universal military training program said the group expects to complete its work well within the four-month period set by Congress.

Townsend Hoopes, executive director, announced that the five-man commission headed by former Rep. James W. Wadsworth (R) N. Y., will hold its first official session next Thursday.

Hoopes explained: "Since we do not have to argue the merits of universal military training, it is hoped that the commission can complete its work in less time than the four months specified in the statute—how much less we do not know."

Under terms of the new draft-UMT law the group—known officially as the National Security Training commission—will draw up specific plans for submission to the Senate and House Armed Services committees.

To Prevent Holdup

The law requires the committees to make a report on the commission's proposals within 45 days. Hoopes explained that this will prevent bottling up of the UMT measure in committee by "legislative or parliamentary" maneuver.

Deadline for filing of the commission's report is Oct. 29—four months from the date the Senate confirmed the commissioners.

Besides Wadsworth the members are Dr. Karl T. Compton, former president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; William L. Clayton, former Assistant Secretary of State; Adm. Thomas Kinkaid, and Lt. Gen. Raymond S. McLain.

Hoopes noted that the law "does not specifically say" whether the congressional committees shall be bound by the commission's recommendations.

Can Draft Own Program

It is generally agreed, however, that they can disregard the commission plan entirely and draft their own UMT program provided a report is laid before the full Congress within the 45-day limit. In any case, Congress would have before it by mid-December at the latest specific recommendations on details of the first UMT program in U. S. history.

Hoopes said that "the very pressure" of the draft-UMT act will keep the commission in day-to-day sessions from now until its work is completed.

The commission has set up temporary offices in the Pentagon but plans to have its main operating offices in downtown Washington. Hoopes said a work room will be maintained at the Pentagon because of the "necessity of working closely with representatives of the Armed Forces."

Three-Year-Old Girl Suffocates In Fire

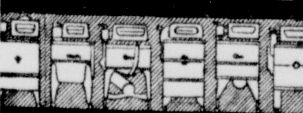

PITTSBURGH, July 9.—(INS)—Three-year-old Mary Beth Lazzor died of suffocation yesterday during a four-alarm fire that caused $7,000 damage to a four-family duplex in Pittsburgh.

The small child was clamped in her mother's arms. Mrs. Lazzor, 25, was detained at Montefiore hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation. She was found near a window by firemen.

The father, Paul Lazzor, 26, a milk company employee, saved another daughter and his son by dashing into the flaming building twice. He suffered burns of the body and was detained at the hospital along with his two children. Eleven other persons escaped injury.

MOODY-BITTINGER WEDDING

Marriage of Miss Billy Lloyd Moody, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd F. Moody to Lt. Dale Austin Bittinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon A. Bittinger of R.D. 2, Lowellville, O., took place at 4 p.m. on June 25 at the Methodist parsonage. Rev. Lloyd F. Moody, father of the bride and pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, Shelbyville, Ky., performed the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar of ferns flanked by white candelabra.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Frank Black of Eminence, Ky. The Misses Marcia and Mary Bess Moody, sisters of the bride, and dressed in rose and blue organdy, lighted the altar candles.

The bride wore a gown of blue lace over taffeta with navy blue accessories. Her bouquet consisted of carnations, baby's breath centered with a white orchid. Miss Betty Lee Neblett, as maid of honor wore a gown of rose organdy over taffeta. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue

Four Prisoners In Escape From Jail At Macon, Georgia

MACON, Ga., July 9.—(INS)—Police squads combed Macon today for four armed prisoners who broke out of the Bibb county jail last night.

The prisoners confronted jailer R. B. Rogers and four trustees with a pair of 38 caliber pistols, locked them up and then fled unnoticed. They were away for more than 30 minutes before an alarm could be sounded.

Sheriff E. Julian Peacock said he did not know how the pistols were smuggled into the jail, which is on the fourth floor of the city courthouse.

The escapees were named as Sylvester Singleton, 22, of Macon, charged with robbery by force; Jack K. Donaldson, 23, of Pritchard, Ala.; Joseph Sansbury, 26, held on a federal charge of counterfeiting and forgery; and Leonard H. Chancey, 31, of Hartford, Ala., charged with swindling.

Instructions to the two American admirals, two American generals and one South Korean general who will represent him at the plenary sessions with the enemy, beginning Tuesday.

Then Ridgway returned to Seoul where he told newsmen Monday night.

"This is a very critical period when the question of the success or failure of the objectives the governments concerned have in mind are very much at issue.

"Whether there is to be good faith or not can only be judged by performance. We have not come to the performance stage. Until that time we are at a stage of pure speculation.

"And, in my judgement at this speculative period, until there is concrete evidence that this proposed conference is on the tracks—with a reasonable expectation that it is going to stay on the tracks because of good faith not of one side but of both—the issues are too great to be prejudiced by risking failure or break-up."

To Remain in Korea

It was reliably understood that Ridgway intends to remain in Korea so that he can maintain close communication with his delegates. He told the correspondents that his emissaries were "selected personally by me."

Asked if the delegates might be rotated in the event the armistice conference becomes long drawn out, the supreme commander replied:

"I have reserved the right to change any delegate at any time for any of one thousand reasons."

Laid Groundwork

Ridgway praised his three liaison emissaries—Air Force Col. A. J. Kinney, Marine Col. James C. Murray and South Korean Col. Soo Young Lee—who met with the Reds at Kaesong Sunday and laid the groundwork for the plenary sessions opening Tuesday.

"They are to be commended for a superior performance of an exacting mission," the supreme commander asserted.

Ridgway said he flew up to the advanced camp at Munsan to "have personal talks with my liaison officers (Kinney, Murray and Lee) to supplement reports they have given me."

The "fighting general" wearing his familiar paratrooper's harness with a hand-grenade strapped to his belt on the left and a first-aid packet on the right, spent only 18 minutes at the Seoul airport while en route to Munsan.

Most of that time Ridgway conferred with Eighth Army Commander Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet. Then he stepped into a light aircraft, leading the way for an 11-plane convoy that flew to the advanced base, bearing the armistice delegates and their aides.

Aboard one plane rode Van Fleet who, Ridgway said, was "fully informed" on the progress of the cease-fire moves.

The UN military chief talked to the correspondents after returning to Seoul from his flight with Adm. Joy in a huge H-19 helicopter to Munsan where an Allied "armistice base" has been set up 15 miles southeast of Kaesong. Munsan is 19 air miles northwest of Seoul, the South Korean capital.

Earlier in the day, when Ridgway arrived at the Seoul city airport on an island in the middle of the Han river, Ridgway smilingly refused to say anything, preferring that Adm. Joy do the talking at the moment.

Mrs. Ryan Will Be Arraigned For Manslaughter

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., July 9.—(INS)—Mrs. Margaret Ryan, wealthy former New York socialite, is scheduled to be arraigned today on a manslaughter charge in San Luis Obispo county superior court.

Mrs. Ryan, widow of a member of the Thomas Fortune Ryan family, was indicted by the grand jury for the fatal shooting of Leonard D. Ray, Jr., who she said was trespassing on her estate.

Her attorneys, A. H. Brazil and Jerry Geisler, indicated they may ask for a continuance.

Mrs. Ryan is free on $10,000 bail.

L.C.U.S. Plans For Activities During Summer Months

Lawrence County Union of Socialists held their regular meeting on Sunday, July 8, at 3:00 p. m. at the Ecclesian club of St. Joseph's church with Miss Rita Felice presiding. The opening prayer was led by the director Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso followed with the hymn "Mother Beloved". The secretary's and the treasurer's reports were given by Miss Frances Lombardo.

The following committees reported: Eucharistic substitute Rita Miaz Prioletti gave an interesting talk about Pope Pius XII. Apostolic substitute Donna Jena Mohr spoke about the different colored vestments. Our Lady's substitute Marietta Priscaro spoke about "Our Lady of Mt. Carmel". Social Life substitute Josephine Meli-gar gave a quiz on Trees. Publicity chairlady Stella Bistva introduced the publicity committee who presented a skit on baptism. Those participating were: Clara Dudek as a narrator, Justine DeCaprio, Lucille Ramunno, and Stella Bistva.

The annual picnic of the L. C. U. S. is to be held on August 12 at East Palestine, Ohio. Busses will leave from St. Joseph's church at 12 noon.

Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso gave a brief talk on baptism. Members of the clergy also present were: Rev. Fr. Thomas Smith from St. Joseph, Rev. Fr. John A. O'Rourke from the New Castle hospital, and Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Mastrangelo from St. Lawrence, in Hillsville.

The closing prayer was led by Rev. Fr. Thomas Smith. The "Sodalite" was distributed by the Editor Justine DeCaprio. Refreshments were served by the sodalists of St. Joseph's. The next meeting will be held at Holy Cross church in West Pittsburg on Sunday, September 9.

Amputee Victim Loses Only Leg In Auto Crash

NEWINGTON, Conn., July 9.—(INS)—A World War II amputee veteran is in critical condition at the Veterans hospital in Newington today from a Sunday automobile accident which claimed his only leg.

Warren H. Peterson, 29, of Yalesville, was pinned in the wreckage of his car yesterday after it swerved off the road in Berlin, struck a tree and a utility pole and came to rest against another tree.

His left leg was amputated before he was removed from the car so as to free him from the wreckage.

Peterson lost his right leg during the St. Lo campaign in France.

Governor Dewey Is Making Korea Tour

PUSAN, Korea, July 9.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey continued his tour of the Far East today after addressing the Republic of Korea national assembly at a special Sunday session.

The New York governor and Republican party leader told the South Korean people:

"Our countrymen without any exception admire your courageous fight against communism."

Dewey also recalled that John Foster Dulles, State Department adviser, told the South Koreans a little more than a year ago that they did not stand alone in the anti-Red fight.

Dewey added:

"I can say that you still do not stand alone."

West Germany Hails Move To End State Of War

BONN, July 9.—(INS)—Officials of the West German government hailed today President Truman's recommendation of an end to the state of war between the United States and Germany as a "decisive step" on the Reich's return to the family of nations.

Spokesmen also interpreted the move as an important measure toward formulation of a peace treaty between Germany and the Western nations.

During the past 10 years, the number of horses and mules in this country has decreased by 52 percent.

It includes:

A non-slip lip grip and mouse-tache rest.

An indicator which lights up when the mug is empty.

A buzzer which sounds when the mug is nearly empty.

A tube for drinking lying down.

A fan for de-frosting (designed for beer drinkers).

A compass for finding the way home.

Rear vision mirror.

Special springs in the handle (no explanation given for use).

A small money holder.

Cigarette lighter and ashtray.

Pressure gauge.

Shock absorbing base and a handle that gives a powerful electric shock to those who covet it.

Trouble is, the mug's a little unwieldy to drink out of.

Asks Congress To Make Van Fleet Four Star General

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—President Truman today asked the Senate to promote Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander in Korea, to the rank of four-star general.

Van Fleet was one of eight of the nation's top military men the President has scheduled for promotion and reassignment.

The other nominations sent to the Senate for confirmation were:

Lt. Gen. John E. Hull to be vice chief of staff of the U. S. Army with the rank of general, replacing Gen. Wade Hampton Haislip, who will go on the retired list.

Lt. Gen. Joseph Swing to become commanding general of the Sixth Army with the permanent rank of Lt. General. He replaces retiring General Albert C. Wedemeyer.

Lt. General Alfred Gruenther to become chief of staff of the supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Europe with rank of general.

Major Gen. Andrew D. Bruce to be appointed commandant of the armed forces staff college with the rank of Lt. general.

Major General Maxwell D. Taylor to become deputy chief of staff for operations and administration, also with the rank of Lt. general.

Major Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe was nominated as assistant chief of staff in the Army with the rank of Lt. general while Major General Lewis Pick was nominated as a Lt. general.

Urges Congress To Levy Sales Tax

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—A former government treasury official urged Congress today to scrap the House-passed corporation and excess profits tax in increases and levy a sales tax at the manufacturers' level.

Roswell Magill, treasury under-secretary for two years in the Roosevelt administration, told the Senate finance committee that the House-passed measure fails to balance the budget and necessitates another tax increase next year.

Tax Problem Still Big Issue In Legislature

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, July 9.—Republican house and senate leaders jockeyed today for position in the tax dispute delaying the home-stretch drive to final adjournment of the 1951 session of the legislature.

The General Assembly ends a 10-day recess late this afternoon.

The house leadership, headed by speaker Herberg P. Sorg and majority leader Charles C. Smith, is not expected to budget from its support of the flat income tax when the senate Republican bloc formally proposes a substitute series of levies.

Gov. John S. Fine, who insists upon a broad-based tax to add about 119 million dollars to a proposed $1,200,000,000 biennial budget, met with house and senate leaders last night at the summer executive mansion on the Inlandtown Gap military reservation to plot strategy for the closing weeks of the session.

Conferees looked over administration legislation to ascertain the position of each bill and to make certain that none would be lost in the confusion of the final days of the session.

"I will not comment on the tax program of the Republican caucus of the committee of eight," said Fine when the meeting ended at midnight, "until sometime in the future and certainly not until the house caucus has had an opportunity to act."

The senate select committee of eight GOP senators named to end the dispute with the 30-member Republican senate bloc over the house-approved income tax is understood to recommend the following:

A two cents a bottle soft drink tax, a two-point boost in the 10 per cent liquor sales tax, a 10 per cent impost on tobacco products excluding cigars, doubling inheritance taxes and the penny-a-pint beer tax, placing a levy on liquor license transfers and hiking fees for licenses.

WITH NEW CASTLE AFRO-AMERICANS

Members of the Sunshine Kensington club will meet this evening with Mrs. Willie Foster of West North street.

Members of the Rising Star club met recently at the home of Mrs. Lucy Groves. After the business session Mrs. Lela Clark had charge of the program. Each member contributed to the informal period. The meeting closed with the serving of appropriate refreshments by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Alice Taylor, Mrs. Lela Clark, Thelma and Evelyn Taylor. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Clark, 213 Weaver street, on Tuesday, July 10.

New Assistant Home Economics Worker Is Named

Miss Suzanne E. Easley has been appointed assistant home economics extension representative in Beaver and Lawrence counties, J. M. Fry, director of the Pennsylvania Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Service, has announced.

Miss Easley will work with Miss Jean Craumer and Miss Patricia Kelley, home economics extension representatives in Beaver and Lawrence counties, respectively. Miss Craumer's office is in the court house, Beaver, and Miss Kelley's is in the Post Office building, New Castle.

Miss Easley was graduated from the Edgewood high school, Pittsburgh, and from Seton Hill college, Greensburg, last month with a degree in home economics. In college she was a member of the Home Economics club. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Easley, live at 1200 Mifflin avenue, Pittsburgh.

New York Mayor Is Taking Hand In Strike At Bakeries

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—Mayor Vincent Impellitteri took a hand today in the week-long strike of bakery drivers which has caused an acute bread shortage in the New York metropolitan area.

However, no immediate results are expected as the mayor's intervention will not directly involve the striking AFL Teamsters locals and the struck baking firms.

The mayor will meet at 11 a. m. in city hall with federal mediators and the New Jersey state board of mediation.

Daniel Kornblum, director of the city's labor relations division, arranged the conference on behalf of the mayor "because of growing concern over the effects of a prolonged strike in this industry."

According to Kornblum, the mayor will obtain a complete report on the status of negotiations and talk over "all possible steps" for ending the walkout.

Yesterday many drivers for independent companies refused to take out their trucks for fear of violence despite police details posted at the plants.

The chief issue in the strike is a five-day week in place of the present six.

The idea that whales spout—take water in at the mouth and blow it out through the nostrils—is baseless.

On Being a Grandmother

Now that we all seem to be living longer, there are naturally a lot more operating grandparents. Indeed, they've become quite self-conscious here and there and have grandmother's discussion groups.

Supposedly one of the big problems that grandmothers present to their children is their opposition to modern ways in discipline. And, of course, such things do happen. But grandmothers are quite up-to-date, and if they've had good relationships with their own children they can help them, now as parents, work out some of the problems of discipline they face.

Another fear expressed by some parents is that grandparents will hover around too much, spilling grandchildren, upsetting routines and otherwise making nuisances of themselves.

But I've been hearing the other side of the story, too. Many grandparents—and especially grandmothers—are beginning to resent being called on to serve as babysitters any time their children feel the need for one. More and more, modern grandparents have their own lives to lead. They enjoy their grandchildren, but they want to set the time and place for such enjoyment.

The nicest thing about being a grandparent is the fun it can be. My wife and I, for instance, can hardly wait until we can take our yet-unborn grandchildren out to our beach place and introduce them to the sea, the woods and the dunes. And, of course, we don't think we'll spoil them.

Report Ambassador Grady Has Trumans Reply On Oil Dispute

TEHRAN, July 9.—(INS)—U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady was reported today to have received President Truman's reply to Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's appeal for U. S. support in the oil dispute with Britain.

It was believed the American diplomat would deliver the note to the Iranian premier sometime today. The contents were not disclosed.

Informed sources in Tehran said, however, that the President asked Mossadegh not to ignore the recent decision of the International Court of Justice at The Hague.

These sources also claimed that Mr. Truman asked the Iranian premier to suspend the taking-over of the facilities of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company for two months.

Woman Fined For Reckless Driving

Officer George Hill of the city police force, noticed a woman driving recklessly and passing other cars, going south on Jefferson street, near North street, at 3:15 a. m., July 8. He stopped the car following and trailed her to the corner of Moravia and Home streets, where she stopped at a parking lot under arrest, when she gave her name as Ollie Mae Cooper.

The officer made an information against her before Alderman James C. Brice. She pleaded guilty to the charge and was assessed a fine and costs totalling $18.50.

Operates Car On Suspended License

Officers Birt and Rozzi arrested John Zajac, of 27 W. Terrace avenue, while driving a car on Washington street, between Mill and Mercer streets, Saturday, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a suspended license.

He was taken before Alderman James C. Brice, where he pleaded guilty to the charge and posted bond for his appearance in court at a later date.

Expect Route 18 To Be Open By August 1 In Relocation Area

Travel over the relocated section of Route 18, near Moravia may be moving by August 1.

A. A. Martin, state highway superintendent said today the work of building the 1500 feet of relocated road was being pushed as rapidly as possible and with ordinary luck would be completed by the first of the month.

The relocation became necessary when the old highway sank about 50 feet for a long stretch. Efforts to fill the sunken area proved impossible and the road was relocated.

Some delay was experienced where it was necessary to condemn property but all such details have been ironed out.

Missing Reds May Be Hiding In Rural Areas

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—Matthew Cvetie, who for eight years was a counterspy for the FBI in the Communist party, said today the eight Red leaders being sought may be staying in carefully prepared hideaways in secluded rural areas.

Cvetie told the New York Journal-American he helped arrange similar retreats on farms owned by secret Communist party members.

Cvetie said the party's powerful control commission had assigned him and several other members to arrange such hideaways several years ago.

He told the newspaper: "I personally arranged for seven such places in the mountains outside Pittsburgh. Other farmers in upstate New York also were contacted and agreed to harbor Communists who were fleeing the FBI."

"Some of the farms were far from highways and provided excellent cover for the Reds."

Cvetie, who emerged from his underground work for the FBI in 1949, said that the owner of the farm had to be a trusted party member and was told he would be liberally supplied with funds for protecting the comrades.

Photographic Group To Affiliate With National Society

Application has been made by the Lawrence County Photographic society for affiliation with the Photographic Society of America. The PSA is an international organization having over 9,000 members in all parts of the world.

Enlistment has been made by the local group in six divisions. The divisions are: Color, nature, motion picture, technical, photojournalism and the pictorial division.

One strange and interesting fact about the membership of the PSA is that outside of the United States and Canada, the next largest membership is in the country of India.

The decision to join the Photographic Society of America was made at the last meeting of the club at the Jones studio on East Washington street.

Several field trips have been made by the society recently. The latest was a field trip and picnic in beautiful Cooks Forest and vicinity. Plans are now pending for another field trip to Lake Erie during the latter part of August. This trip will have a model to photograph for the main feature. There will also be a picnic, swimming and visiting of various points of photographic interest. It was announced today by Adam F. Pivar, president of Lawrence County group.

Telling more about the Photographic Society of America, Pivar said that the PSA has a convention each year. This year's convention will be held in Detroit on October 10, 11, 12 and 13. He further stated that there will be lectures on all phases of photography by those most qualified to speak on the subject. These lectures will be held every morning, afternoon and evening during the convention along with its other features.

Next meeting of the Lawrence County Photographic society will be held on July 20 at Jones studio.

Field Expects To Get Out On Bail Today

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire patron of Leftist causes, expects to get his freedom in $10,000 bail today following a week-end in a federal cell.

Field was sentenced to a 90-day term for refusing to identify donors to the bail fund of the Civil Rights Congress. He is secretary of the fund. Four Communist leaders sentenced to prison terms forfeited a total of $80,000 bail by going into hiding.

Late Friday his attorneys obtained a temporary order for his release in $10,000 bail pending a hearing today or tomorrow. However, efforts to raise the bail over the weekend failed because the banks were closed.

New Castle CAP Participates In Dawn Patrol, Sunday

"Operation Knockout," a state wide dawn patrol of the Civil Air Patrol, was held Sunday. Wing headquarters at Pittsburgh and Allegheny County field and get the town were the areas "knocked out" by enemy planes. This was a sequence to the gas fire in New Jersey, pretending the gas fire was caused by enemy aircraft. Due to "injuries and loss" of personnel other group officers of the Pennsylvania Wing, CAP, had to go in a take command of the attacked areas.

Two planes with command personnel from each squadron throughout the state participated in the operation. First Lieut. Charles Schweinsberg, was in charge of the New Castle men.

First plane from New Castle, with First Lt. Charles Schweinsberg and Second Lt. Willard Tanne, reported to Allegheny county airfield for their sale orders.

Their orders were to proceed to Bethlehem-Easton field and get the field in running order.

Technical difficulties forced this team down at Williamsport and they had to return home.

Second plane from New Castle, with Second Lt. Joseph Cumo and Flight Officer M. A. Dachko, also reported to Allegheny county airfield for their sealed orders.

Their orders were to proceed to York, Pa. The second plane returned at 3:15 o'clock and reported their mission accomplished. personnel and field at York set up and in running order. Fourteen planes participated in "Operation Knockout". They went into ten fields scattered throughout the state. The nearest field to New Castle that the planes went into was at Uniontown.

Technical difficulties forced this team down at Williamsport and they had to return home.

Erie Centennial Train Exhibition Coming Here

100 YEARS OF RAILROADING—Century-old "William Mason" locomotive and train, shown running alongside newest model diesel engine, will be part of Erie Railroad's Centennial Exhibition Train. As part of its Centennial Year observance, Erie will display 18-car train including "100th Anniversary Museum Car," Army's largest experimental tank, latest passenger and freight equipment and special cut-away exhibition diesel unit. In 1851 Erie completed first rail link between Great Lakes and Atlantic Ocean, 446 miles of track. Today, Erie operates 2,245 miles of railroad serving six-state area between New York and Chicago. Exhibition Train will visit 100 communities in two-month journey over entire road.

Local residents will have an opportunity of viewing the eighteen-car Centennial Exhibition Train of the Erie Railroad on Tuesday, July 10, when the train will make a stop here from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. on that date, it is announced. The exhibition contains displays and equipment of 100 years ago, which are contrasted with present day equipment.

This exhibition, which is open to the public, will include an actual 1851 locomotive with baggage car and coach, museum car, the biggest and latest army tank on a flat car, a cut-away display diesel locomotive unit, examples of modern passenger and freight equipment, and "Daniel Webster" seat on a flat car.

The Erie railroad was organized 100 years ago, when the original line between Piermont and Dunkirk, N. Y., was completed, linking the Atlantic ocean and the Great Lakes. It then covered an extent of 446 miles, the longest railroad in the country. Daniel Webster, then secretary of state, rode the inaugural train in a rocking chair, bolted to a flat car, because he wanted to enjoy the beautiful scenery through which the railroad passes. In effect, he will once more ride the flat car, behind the colorful 100-year-old "William Mason" locomotive.

Two wounded veterans from the Korea fighting will accompany the Army's newest 73-ton tank, mounted on a flat car, to show the Erie's extra-size clearances.

Members of the train crew, numbers 50, will be on hand to explain the various parts of the exhibit to visitors.

Governor Gives Legislators Task Of Finding Funds

HARRISBURG, July 9.—(INS)—Lawmakers were given the task today by Gov. John S. Fine of digging up additional money to pay the 50 per cent expense account hike they voted themselves.

Fine has improved the intent of the bill plus the first $300 dividend, which goes on top of the $600 tax free semi-annual payment, but withheld from the enabling act the funds which would have underwritten the 50 per cent increase.

The funds for the initial $300 boost, payable to each lawmaker as of July 1, were drawn from a holdover appropriation from the 1949-51 biennium. Expense accounts voted by the legislature in 1947, are paid each July 1 and November 1.

"I will not," declared Fine flatly, "approve any further amount for the purposes of this bill until the legislature provides sufficient revenue to care for human needs, for essential services, for our public institutions, hospitals, colleges, medical schools, soldiers' bonus, school subsidies and for salary increases for teachers and for all state employees."

The intent of the bill which the legislators sent through the House and Senate in record time is to raise the biennial expense account total from $2400 to $3600 or on a monthly basis of $100 to $150.

Prepare To Combat Any Attempts At Biological Warfare

HARRISBURG, July 9.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's billion dollar livestock and poultry industries today were oriented for a campaign to nip sabotage resulting from biological warfare.

Each county in Pennsylvania soon will be organized for immediate action to prevent spread of any poultry or livestock disease of unusual nature that may be detected, according to Dr. H. A. Milo who is acting director of the State Bureau of Animal Industry.

The protection plan was proposed late yesterday during a meeting of civil defense officials with farm officials including Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst.

"Severe public hardships through serious reduction of meat, milk and egg supplies could follow the accidental or purposeful introduction of foot and mouth disease, fowl plague or similar contagious diseases that are not now present in Pennsylvania," Horst said.

Seventeen state and federal agencies will cooperate in the campaign, according to Horst. All suspicious cases of livestock or poultry illness is to be reported at Milo at Harrisburg headquarters immediately.

Doubt Marine Force Charge About Anti-Tank Weapon

By GEORGE MOISE

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—Army Ordnance officers are inclined today to doubt a Marine Corps charge that the infantry's best anti-tank weapon was not good enough to stop Russia's new tanks.

The Marine Corps Gazette, semi-official organ of the corps, admitted in its current issue that the 3.5-inch bazooka, standard infantry anti-tank weapon, can stop the Soviet T-34 used by the Reds in Korea.

But the magazine questioned the ability of the 3.5 rocket to penetrate the armor of the massive Josef Stalin heavy tank now being produced in Russia.

The gazette called for a "king-sized" bazooka, developed from the 7.2-inch rocket-launcher, as a super anti-tank weapon.

The army, however, was not convinced of the so-called weakness of the standard 3.5.

Knew What Would Penetrate
An infantry officer familiar with anti-tank weapons pointed out that Ordnance officers know the thickness of the armor on the Stalin tank and undoubtedly knew what would penetrate it.

The officer added:
"It isn't the size of the charge, but its shape, that creates penetrating power. They know at Aberdeen (Aberdeen, Md., Ordnance Proving Ground) what they have to face, and they probably have it."

The infantry officer did not deny that a newer anti-tank rocket was under development, but he indicated that Ordnance was satisfied, at present, with the 3.5.

The writer commented:
"This thickly armored, low silhouette Soviet tank (The Stalin) is rated by competent authorities as probably the best tank in the world. In the event of its introduction against United Nations troops at the present time, we would be forced to rely largely upon heavy artillery and aircraft to disable it."

Some experts believe such defenses would be "militarily unsound and quite inadequate" and admit that the best U. S. tank available now would be "outgunned and outmaneuvered."

The article said:
"Our industrial might will probably, in time, produce a tank that can battle the Stalin on even terms. But what happens in the meantime if the largest Russian-built tanks are used against us?"

The writer advocated rapid development of a 7.2-inch rocket bazooka which would be carried and fired by specially trained teams mounted on jeeps.

Truman Would Send Harriman To Iran Trouble

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—President Truman today offered to send W. Averell Harriman to Iran as his personal representative to discuss the British-Iranian oil dispute.

The offer was made in a cable sent to American Ambassador Henry F. Grady at Tehran yesterday for delivery to Iranian Premier Mossadegh.

In his communication, the President said that he has "watched with concern the breakdown of your discussion and the drift toward a collapse of oil operations with all the attendant losses to Iran and the world."

William R. Harris Dies In Greenville

William R. Harris of Atlantic, Pa., died in the Greenville hospital Saturday, July 7, after a short illness. Word has been received here of the death of the 69-year-old former resident by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna B. Harris, 327½ East Washington street.

William Harris was the son of the late Thomas and Mary Gray Harris. He is survived by his wife, Ida Jewel Harris, and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his brother, David R. Harris, and sister, Miss Bessie Harris.

Funeral services will be conducted from the family home in Atlantic, Pa., on Tuesday, July 10, at 3 o'clock. Friends may call anytime prior to the services. Burial will take place in the Rocky Glen cemetery near Atlantic.

Marine Sergeant Now In States After Mediterranean Cruise

Back in the United States after a four-month cruise in the Mediterranean is Sergeant James V. DeRosa, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, husband of Mrs. Nancy L. DeRosa, 210 Crawford avenue, New Castle.

A native of New Castle, DeRosa attended school and worked here before entering the Marines in January 1943. He served in the Pacific for 27 months.

After his discharge in 1945 he attended barber's college in Philadelphia and returned to New Castle to establish his own business.

The DeRosa's have a two-year-old son, Oidie.

Sgt. DeRosa has been on active duty with the Marines since his recall last November.

Soviet Union Shows Off New Fighter Planes At Moscow

MOSCOW, July 9.—(INS)—The Soviet Union has given the Western world a fleeting glimpse of three new super-speed jet fighters in a giant air show in Moscow.

Western air attaches were interested observers at yesterday's aerial demonstration that included three never-before-seen jets which are believed to be faster than the MIG-15's used in Korea.

Some estimated the new models were flying overhead at supersonic speeds — beyond the sound barrier. The three new models were announced simply by the names of their designers—Aleksander S. Y. Akovliev, Artem I. Mikoyan and Semyon A. Lavochkin. These three are among the most famous Russian aircraft designers.

Observers also spotted a new twin-jet light bomber and were impressed by a new Yak fighter which is able to take off in a space of only 15 yards.

Woman Marine To Be At Recruiting Station Wednesday

Staff Sergeant Betty Jane Wells, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, a native of Butler, Pa., will be at the New Castle Marine recruiting station from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Wednesday, July 11, concerning the recruiting of future women Marines.

Sergeant Wells who is a graduate of Butler high school, enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1943, was discharged in 1945, and returned to active duty in August 1950.

She is one of the two women Marines attached to the Marine Corps recruiting district of Pittsburgh.

City receives $413 From Penn-Aero For Two Year Period

City of New Castle received two checks Saturday, totalling $413.17, from the Penn-Aero service. This amount represents one percent of gross income of the Penn-Aero service from rentals, gas sales and flights for the past two years.

The total received from both air services to date this year is now $547.42.

City council authorized acceptance of the check at its meeting this morning.

Doubtful Status To Salary Raisers For County Officials

HARRISBURG, July 9.—(INS)—Legislation to raise the salaries of county officials today acquired a doubtful status because two state officials promised a fee to draft the measure.

The District Attorneys Association revealed the fee promise when it balked at paying $500 each to State Internal Affairs Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr., and State Pardons Board Secretary Joseph Nissley.

Other organizations forming the Pennsylvania association of county officials may take a similar stand.

The two Republican jobholders—Livengood is an elected constitutional officer—have been operating as the law firm of Livengood and Nissley at Harrisburg. Livengood was primary campaign issue in 1950 because he absented himself from his state job during working hours to attend Dickinson Law School. He was given a clean bill, however, by then Governor Duff.

Ernie County District Attorney Damian McLaughlin said the motion to withhold payment of the fee by the association was made by Allegheny County District Attorney William S. Rauhauser, a former state senator.

He explained that all of the organizations in the "County Officials Association" had contributed $200 each to set it up and provide a backlog for paying the drafting fee. Rauhauser, however, threw the wrench into the machinery.

"As I recall it," said McLaughlin, "his motion urged that the district attorneys refuse to contribute to anything Livengood had anything to do with as a lobbyist. The motion was carried unanimously."

Others in the association are representatives of probationaries, sheriffs, recorders of deeds, clerks of court, commissioners, registers of wills, controllers and treasurers.

Budget Balancing Not Likely This Year

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—Hopes appeared doomed today for a pay-as-you-go fiscal policy that will enable the federal government to balance its budget this year.

More revenue and less spending provide the solution for keeping the government from going into the red and neither seem to be forthcoming in sufficient quantity to prevent a deficit.

The outlook for the 1952 fiscal year which began July 1 is bleak unless treasury estimates of government income and spending are inaccurate.

Barrow's Daughter Plunges To Death

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—The 45-year-old daughter of Edward Grant Barrow, retired president of the New York Yankees, plunged to her death early today from her 11th-floor home at Manhattan's Sutton Terrace apartments.

Police said the dead woman, Mrs. Audrey Barrow Shafer, either fell or jumped from her window in her three-room suite.

They said she might have tripped over an air circulator as she was opening the window and hurtled to her death. The circulator was found near the window.

Mrs. Shafer, clad only in her housecoat, plunged into the sub-basement of an open stair well in the rear courtyard in the fashionable east side apartment.

State Experts Investigate Hemlock Pests In County

If you met an athasaria-athasaria in the woods you probably would not recognize the pest. But the pest with the double name is in the hemlock trees of Lawrence county and entomologists are worried.

In the picture above you see a picture of the athasaria-athasaria, or Hemlock looper. The picture is thirty two times the size of the pest at the present time but he grows fast. His distinguishing marks are a banded body, brown and gray and in a short time he will be two inches long.

Thomas McIntyre an entomologist of the State Department of Agriculture, William B. Mates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and C. H. Bettinger of the State Department of Forests and Waters have made an inspection of the Slippery Rock Valley and find a rather heavy infestation of the pests.

With a long pole to which clippers are attached, the men snipped off twigs of hemlock about 18 inches long. They then shook the twigs to drop the pests onto a canvas. On some twigs they found three, on others, four and on still others five of the athasaria-athasaria. Five or more are considered fatal to the twig.

In some sections of the county the pests have ruined thousands of hemlocks. In the Slippery Rock valley some huge hemlocks with three foot butts have been killed. Oddly enough Hell's Hollow seems to be immune thus far.

Spraying from the air seems to be the accepted way of fighting the pests and this may be tried in the Slippery Rock valley.

FROZEN CAKE

NEW YORK—Angel food and sponge cake, baked during the springtime abundance of eggs, may be put in freezers or freezer lockers for serving in summertime or later. This type of cake keeps longer in frozen storage than cake containing fat. Baked angel food will keep for a year if carefully wrapped and sealed, and sponge cake seven months.

Warden Is Getting Out Of Jail Now

COLUMBUS, O., July 9.—(INS)—The warden of the Ohio State Penitentiary is getting out of jail. It took an act of the Ohio legislature to get Warden Ralph W. Alvis out of the pen but it's certain now.

Alvis, finding the penitentiary a "grim" place in which to rear two young daughters, will move off the premises September 11 and into a house—if he can find one by then.

The legislature authorized the warden to live off the premises. Alvis pays the state $105 a month for his living quarters at the pen but moving out, he says will "cost me more but will be worth it."

BEAVER MENU

ITHACA, N. Y.—A Cornell university professor suggests more widespread use of beaver and muskrat as a food to help out meat supplies. "Twenty tons of good beaver meat is thrown away each year while the million or more muskrats taken each year are seldom utilized for food," Prof. W. J. Hamilton Jr., told a farm and home week audience.

Says 1,000 Britons Anxious To Take Trip To The Moon

LONDON, July 9.—(INS)—Some 1,000 Britons are anxious to take a trip to the moon. The president of the British Interplanetary society says the urge to get out of this world is "largely due to the unsettled international situation."

The president is Arthur Clarke, and he explained that other reasons include "the itch for adventure" and "the realization that rocket and atomic energy development have made a trip to the moon possible within the next 30 years."

Clarke told International News Service: "Our society now numbers about 1,400—of which more than 1,000 would like to take that first trip to the moon. About 20 are women. The growing interest in space exploration is reflected in our steadily mounting membership—about 50 a month."

"The ultimate object of the society is to become to space exploration what the Royal Aeronautical society has become to aviation. The aeronautical society was formed before man could fly, and its members were laughed at. Our society was formed in 1933—and we were laughed at as well. Now, many who laughed at us have joined our ranks."

CAREFUL THIEF

WINNIPEG—Working in broad daylight in the early morning a thief removed the beading of the front door of a downtown store, stole cigars and $3 in silver, then carefully replaced the door panel before making his get-away.

Folks Of Fame

Dr. George K. Funston was born in Waterloo, Ia., October 12, 1910. His first job was as a member of the research staff of the Harvard Business school in Boston. He next was assistant to the treasurer of a radiator and sanitary corporation; and then he became director of purchase of an electric products company in New York. From 1941 to 1944, he took a leave of absence to serve as special assistant to the chairman of the War Production Board in Washington, D.C. He was elected president of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., in 1944, and given leave of absence for the duration of World War II. Recently he was named president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Barrymore and Jane Cowl in such productions as "Wild Duck," "The Squall," "Electra," "Lysistrata," "Lucrece," with Katharine Cornell, and "Romeo and Juliet," with the same actress. She played "Mme. La Farge" in "Tale of Two Cities," and was with Ronald Coleman in "Queen of the Mob." Other plays in which she appeared include "Escape," "The Song of Bernadette" and later, in "Skin of Our Teeth" and a film "The Flame."

New Castle Kiwanis club members will have an opportunity of learning all about the flower business, when the speaker at Wednesday noon's luncheon meeting will be Thomas Cunningham. His subject will be "Commercializing Flowers." Mr. Cunningham has been in the florist business all his life and is also a fine speaker, so the club will be looking forward to an interesting talk.

Price Stabilizer Says Agency Is Stalled By Congress

DULUTH, Minn., July 9.—(INS)—Price Stabilizer DiSalle said today that the "momentum" of his agency has been stalled by long congressional debate on wage-price controls.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the midwestern regional conference of the Council of State Governments, DiSalle declared:

"Since February we have made real progress in stemming the upward rise in prices.

Just as our efforts are gaining momentum and our organization reaching the position where we can expand its efforts, we are forced to stand still as a result of the legislative lapse that now exists.

"Failure to give us an effective stabilization act certainly would start us off again on a road to higher prices and new pressures on local governments as well as business and consumers."

Mickey Cohen To Get Sentence Today

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—(INS)—Mobster Mickey Cohen is scheduled to be sentenced today in Federal court on his conviction last June 20 on three counts of income tax evasion and one count of making a false statement of his finances.

The pudgy Cohen, indicated following his conviction that he would appeal the verdict when he comes up for sentencing.

Cohen was found guilty of tax evasion during the years 1946, 1947 and 1948 and also of making a false statement of his worth in 1950.

A maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $40,000 fine could be imposed against him.

Cohen has been in jail since his conviction, bond was denied by Federal Judge Ben Harrison.

Publicity and Eucharistic committee members jointly presented a skit on "What Kind of a Catholic Are You?" Those taking part were: Jennie Domiano, Camille Augustine, Marie Sajnata, Margie Nocera and Rose Marie Nocera.

Plans were discussed for a Sodality picnic to be held on July 22 at Rambler's Rest. All Sodality members are to attend. Viola Naples is the picnic chairman, and her social committee will assist.

Mother Superior delivered an interesting lecture, Bernice Delaverson gave the monthly meditation on "Our Lady of Mt. Carmel." Mother Superior closed with prayer.

Field Is Refused Immediate Release

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire "angel" of the Communist party, was refused immediate release in $10,000 bail today after the government turned down his guarantor.

Assistant U. S. attorney Roy Cohn would not disclose the identity of the guarantor, but said he was "unacceptable." Judge Swan of the U. S. appeals court who set the bail so that Field might appeal his 90-day sentence for contempt of court, stipulated that the guarantor must be acceptable to the U. S. attorney's office.

The $10,000 in cash was offered today by Field's attorney, Mrs. Mary Kaufman, after the girl's grandfather, Commodore Frederick Vanderbilt had spent a weekend in jail. He was brought to the federal building and placed in a detention pen in the basement in anticipation of his expected release.

Field was remanded to jail on Friday for refusing to disclose the names of the contributors to a fund which supplied $80,000 bail for a thoroughgoing communist leader.

Although bail was set by the appeals court judge a few hours later, he was forced to remain in his cell over the weekend because banks and vaults were closed.

New York Stocks

Day's Market Little Changed

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—The stock market held within relatively narrow price limits for the second successive session today. There were a few issues which fluctuated widely, but the list as a whole marked time around last week's closing levels.

At 11 a. m. the Dow-Jones industrial averages were up nine cents, the rails were off 14 cents and the utilities were unchanged. Volume for the first hour totaled 180,000 shares as against 290,000 shares last Friday.

Curbs stocks were mixed. Electric Bond & Share was off 1/4, Kaiser-Frazer was unchanged and Chrysler Petroleum up 3/4. The bond market showed a generally steady tone with only minor price changes in evidence.

Believes Russia Could Drop Atom Bomb On America

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS)—Air Force Secretary Finletter believes that Russia could drop atom bombs on the United States today if war should come.

Finletter was asked on a television program last night if the Russians could atom bomb this country "tonight."

The secretary replied: "They could."

Finletter also defended the air force build-up of the strategic air force at the expense of air transport and the tactical air force. He said that both tactical air and transport were vital to the United States, but that "the strategic air arm is the greatest deterrent to an attack that exists."

The air secretary paid his tribute to the ground forces when he said that without them the United States would "never have held Korea." He emphasized the point when he repeated it and said "ground troops—American troops."

Although he refused to say whether the Russians have a superior plane to any American aircraft in the MIG-15, Finletter said that the performance of the Soviet fighter should be "a great lesson to us, a great lesson never to underestimate the scientific capacity of other nations."

New System For Collecting Nickels From Parking Meters

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—(INS)—From today on, nickels dropped into Philadelphia parking meters will be "untouched by human hands" from the moment they are slid into the slots until they are counted and wrapped by machines.

But the new method has nothing to do with sanitation. A "foolproof" system of collecting the mountains of nickels has been placed in operation to increase efficiency, save money, and, of course, remove temptation from larcenous fingers.

The system consists of a container on wheels into which the coins pour from the meters with exposure to the outside air or human hands.

The extractor coin collectors replace the two-box system by which a collector merely took out the sealed box containing the coins and slipped an empty into place in the meter.

They also replace the "dump system"—a funnel arrangement which left the nickels exposed and unprotected.

THEY'RE GONNA TRY THE CHANNEL

THREE SWIMMERS who will try to swim the English channel stroll hand in hand along the beach at Dover, England, as they begin training. From right: Florence Chadwick, 32-year-old from San Diego, Cal., who swam the channel last year in 15 hours, 26 minutes and broke Gertrude Ederle's old record; Philip Mickman, 19, Briton who also swam the channel last year; a Welsh aspirant, Jenny James. Invites MacArthur To Review Parade Of Shriner's Tuesday

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS)—Dan Bracken, Jr., potentate of the Nile Shrine of Seattle, visited Gen. Douglas MacArthur today to invite an old acquaintance and renew him to review the Shrine parade tomorrow.

The parade will be one of the highlights of this week's convention in New York of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Bracken first met Gen. MacArthur in 1949 when the Nile chapter made a pilgrimage from Seattle to Tokyo.

MacArthur is a member of the Shrine. He was initiated into the Shrine in Manila in 1936.

Bracken visited MacArthur at the general's headquarters at 90 Church street which houses various branches of the armed services.

Rita Hayworth To Resume Her Career

HOLLYWOOD, July 9.—(INS)—Actress Rita Hayworth turned back today to her pressing personal problems—the resumption of her screen career and her impending divorce from Aly Khan—after a reunion with her family yesterday.

Her father, the Spanish dancer, Eduardo Canino, two brothers and their wives and a nephew, called on her at her costly bungalow at the Beverly Hills hotel.

It was the first time they had seen her since her marriage to the fabulous Moslem prince.

Also it was the first time they had met Yashmin, the 18-month-old daughter born of the star's marriage to Aly Khan.

Today the flame-haired movie charmer goes into further conferences with her agent and Columbia Studio representatives about her return to pictures.

The studio's top writer, Virginia Van Upp, who authored Rita's most successful picture, "Cover Girl," is writing a new story for her.

Firepower Gives U.N. Army Big Superiority Over Reds

By ROBERT SCHAKNE
(U.S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, July 9. (INS)—The Chinese and North Korean Communist armies, even with their recently acquired artillery and tanks and their continued numerical superiority, still are no match for the cosmopolitan army under the command of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

The reason is firepower. The Communists, according to best estimates, have suffered approximately a million and a quarter casualties since the outbreak of the Korean war, or more than twice the number of troops they have facing the Eighth Army today.

In addition, an entire modern army of 160,000 North Koreans was rendered ineffective after the Inchon landing and had to be completely re-equipped and re-organized before it could return to battle.

For this reason, many allied military leaders believe, the Communists are seeking a cease-fire, they feel the Red bosses know that even the freshly equipped North Korean army and the increasingly aggressive Chinese air force would be almost prohibitively outclassed in the future just as in the past.

Immense Superiority
The reason for the allied superiority is not in the quality or bravery of troops—although there is plenty of that—but in the immense superiority in firepower.

Attached to each American division are four battalions of artillery, three of which contain 105mm howitzers and the fourth 155 howitzers. The exact number of pieces in a battalion cannot be revealed but the figure is high.

In addition, each rifle company is equipped with 60 millimeter mortars and recoilless rifles; each battalion with 81 millimeter mortars, each regiment with 4.2 mortars.

And there is the vast quantity of firepower that corps and higher echelons can lend to a division in a tight spot. There are the 155 millimeter Long Tom rifles, the 4.2 multiple rocket launchers, the 76 millimeter guns of tanks, the rapid firing 40 millimeter anti-aircraft guns.

To match this, even the re-equipped Communist divisions are woefully weak by comparison.

The largest artillery piece in a North Korean division is a 122 millimeter howitzer and an entire Communist division has less of these than a single American artillery battalion.

The North Koreans and Chinese, even re-equipped by the Russians, cannot match this. They lack even enough vehicles to haul artillery and carry the mortars and ammunition. They rely on oxen and horses and human beings but frequently only can use one-third of their weapons because of ammunition shortages.

Ask Nominations For Ambassadors For State Week

HARRISBURG, July 9. (INS)—The state Chamber of Commerce today asked more than 300 local chambers and community organizations to nominate former Pennsylvanians for "ambassador" honors during Pennsylvania week October 15-21.

The local groups were asked by the chamber to submit nominations of "outstanding sons and daughters" by the August 10 deadline.

The chamber was requested by Gov. John S. Fine and State Commerce Secretary A. J. Sordani to handle the Pennsylvania ambassador program.

In the past, the awards committee composed of prominent Pennsylvanians has chosen between 20 and 26 former Pennsylvanians for honors which include return to their hometowns to receive plaques at special ceremonies. Both men and women are eligible for the honors.
